"How to fight poverty
with Low Carbon Projects in Less Developed Countries"

December 12th 2017
Auditorium of Federchimica
11, Via G. da Procida
20149 Milan - I

Federchimica

Federchimica is the National Federation of the Chemical Industry and it represents 1,400 Chemical Companies operating in the Chemical Industry in Italy, who generates yearly sales of € 53 B (2014) and around 90,000 employees. Federchimica regroups 17 Sector Associations and its mission is to support the sustainable development of the Chemical Industry in Italy. Federchimica is a member of Confindustria, based in Rome; and a member of Cefic, the European Chemical Industry Council based in Bruxelles.

Responsible Care

The Responsible Care Programme is managed by Federchimica to support the Chemical Companies in Italy to adopt principles and behaviours oriented to HSE and the sustainable development of the Chemical Industry.

COSV

COSV is an Italian NGO, based in Milan and founded in 1968, which carries out the development and the humanitarian aid operations in Central Europe, in Balkans, in Sub-Saharan Africa and in the Middle East. COSV works for peace, respect for human rights and the protection of the environment, through inclusive development paths that enhance local realities. COSV participates in numerous tables and working groups dealing with the partnership with the private sector to make their contribution for building innovative and effective alliances.

ManagerNoProfit

The ManagerNoProfit Association is made up of people who have gained high professional skills as well as human and relationships, and offer them free to organizations that work in the social and want to take advantage of this opportunity. The diversity and complementarity of experiences enable us to respond, individually and in team, to the specific needs expressed by operating in an integrated, effective and responsible manner. This service is carried out with respectful spirit of the values, goals and times of assisted organizations in the knowledge that our wealth of experience can only generate added value if accompanied by shared principles and fueled by mutual trust and acceptance.

The 4th National Conference on: "How to fight poverty with Low Carbon Projects"

The Chemical Industry in Europe is committed to the CSR through the Responsible Care Programme. In Italy, 176 Chemical Companies of large medium and small size are active in the sustainable growth of the LDCs too, with direct investments, local join ventures, public and private partnerships, to assure the creation of the wealth of local communities in Africa, Latin America, South-Eastern Asia. More cooperation with Financial Institutions, NGOs and Public Authorities could create a new momentum of sustainable growth for the present and future generations in those areas of the earth.

Who should attend the National Conference
